TODAY'S PACKING LIST

Nothing.
Wear whatever you slept in if you want.

Tomorrow is Halloween, and we spend it in Rome — October 31st. If you want a costume for Trevi Fountain at night, today is the day to sort it out. There are small markets in the nearby towns. Keep it light enough for a daypack.

THINGS YOU COULD DO

Or Absolutely Nothing

Read something
A book in the sun on the terrace. A magazine. Nothing. The fact that you have nowhere to be is the whole point. Let your brain rest.

Bocce or cards on the lawn
Bocce on a flat patch of grass, a hand of cards, or a nap — the afternoon (3:00–6:00 PM) is for games, rest and whatever you like. Trash talk is mandatory.

Open the good bottle
Whatever you brought home from the wine day, today is the day. Afternoon light on the terrace. No occasion needed. The occasion is that you're here.

Leo cooks tonight
The kitchen is Leo's from 2:00 to 5:00 PM — everyone else stays out, stays happy, stays with a glass of wine. Aperitivo on the terrace at 6:00 PM, then dinner.

"Rest is not idleness — it is the work that prepares you for everything else."
